

- EEOC v. Beverly Holdings, Inc., d/b/a The Beverly Hilton Hotel

No. CV 01-08316 LGB (C.D. Cal. February 27, 2003)

In this ADEA lawsuit, the Los Angeles District Office alleged that defendant, which owns and operates a luxury hotel, discriminated against applicants over the age of 40 by failing to hire them for server positions in the hotel's "fine dining" restaurant, the Coconut Club, because of their age. The case was resolved through a consent decree which provides for a total payment of $200,000 to approximately 15 applicants over the age of 40 who were denied hire based on age. The Coconut Club closed in July 2001.
