07/17/2014	897	ORDER DENYING OF PLAINTIFFS' APPLICATION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER; CONSTRUING PLAINTIFFS' APPLICATION AS A MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY; GRANTING PLAINTIFFS' MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY by Judge Margaret M. Morrow: For the reasons stated, plaintiffs have not demonstrated their entitlement to a temporary restraining order and their application is denied. The court, however, construes plaintiffs' first argument in support of the application as a motion to compel post-judgment discovery, and grants this aspect of the application. The government is directed to allow class counsel to interview 25 class members at the NPC during a one-day visit as soon as is practicable, but in no event later than July 30, 2014. These interviews must be private and may occur on or off the NPC site. To assist counsel in determining whether 25 individual with whom they are permitted to speak are representative, the government is directed to provide class counsel with a list of the names, ages, and genders of all class members detained at the NPC on the day class counsel visit. The court declines to decide whether class counsel are entitled to receive weekly lists of the names, ages, and genders of class members detained at the NPC until the parties have met and conferred regarding the issue. The parties are directed meet and confer and file a joint report no later than July 23, 2014, as to whether the government will provide this information to class counsel and, if it is not willing to do so, whether the parties have come to a satisfactory compromise resolution of the issue. If the parties are not able to agree, each should set forth in the joint report its views as to whether or why the information must be provided. They should also detail why, or why not, the production of such a document would be unduly burdensome. To the extent plaintiffs seek additional discovery in anticipation of any contemplated motion to compel compliance with the injunction, class counsel is directed to meet and confer with the government regarding any discovery requests prior to filing a motion to compel discovery. The court expects the parties to attempt to resolve the matter between themselves. Any future motions to compel discovery must be filed in the first instance before Magistrate Judge Kenton. 883 Request for TRO (bp) (Entered: 07/17/2014)
