DANNY FACKLER, Individually and in his official capacity as the BULLITT COUNTY JAILER 1671 South Preston Highway P.O. Box 216 Shepherdsville, KY 40165

FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

I. Introduction

1. Kimberly Miracle and Melisa Squires file this action in their individual capacity and on behalf of all persons arrested for minor offenses who were required by the Defendants in the Bullitt County Jail (hereinafter "Jail") to remove their clothing for a visual inspection on admission to the Jail despite the absence of any reasonable suspicion that they were carrying or concealing weapons or contraband. This class of people includes all individuals who were so treated from March 3, 2004 to the present.

2. Such searches have been and continue to be regularly conducted by the Defendants and there are hundreds of members of this class. There are questions of law and fact in this case that are common to all members of this class. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of those of this respective class, and they will fairly and adequately protect the interests of this class.

II. Jurisdiction and Venue

3. Plaintiffs, and all other similarly situated, seek actual and punitive damages from Defendants under the Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. §1983, for gross and unconscionable violations of the rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed them by the Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, Ninth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States. Accordingly, this Court has jurisdiction of this case pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. §1331 and §1343. Plaintiffs and the other members of her class also seek declaratory and injunctive relief, as well as damages under the pendent jurisdiction of this Court for negligence, gross negligence and intentional infliction of emotional distress. As Bullitt County, Kentucky is the residence of all defendant parties to this action and location of all acts pertinent to this suit, venue is proper in this Court.

III. Class Action

4. Plaintiffs bring this action as a class action pursuant to Rules 23(b)(1), (2) and (3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The class consists of all individuals arrested for minor offenses who were required to remove their clothing for a visual inspection on admission to the Jail despite the absence of any reasonable suspicion that they were carrying or concealing weapons or contraband.

- 5. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of all class members. They are members of the class and their claims are typical of the claims of all class members. Plaintiffs were offended at the treatment accorded them and the class members and will aggressively pursue the interests of the entire class. Plaintiffs' interest in obtaining injunctive relief and actual and punitive damages for the violations of their constitutional rights and privileges are consistent with and not antagonistic of those of any other person within her class.
- 6. Given the circumstances of their search, as detailed below, Plaintiffs allege, on information and belief, that Defendants regularly require all persons arrested for nonviolent minor offenses to remove their clothing for a visual inspection of their bodies on admission to the Jail, even though there exists no reasonable grounds for believing that weapons or contraband have been concealed upon their persons. Such searches violate the Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, Ninth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, Title 42 U.S.C. §1983, Bell v. Wolfish, 441 U.S. 520 (1979) and the clearly established law of this circuit, as set forth in Masters v. Crouch, 872 F.2d 1248 (6th Cir.), cert denied, 493 U.S. 977, 110 S.Ct. 503 (1989). The only question that remains to be resolved is whether Plaintiffs and the members of the class are entitled to declaratory and injunctive relief, or to award of compensatory and punitive damages and, if so, the extent of such an award.
- 7. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy because:

- a. A multiplicity of suits with consequent burden on the courts and Defendants should be avoided.
- b. It would be virtually impossible for all class members to intervene as parties-plaintiff in this action.
- c. Upon adjudication of Defendants' liability, claims of the class members can be determined by this Court.
- 8. Plaintiffs are residents of Jefferson County within the Commonwealth of Kentucky.
- 9. The Defendant, Bullitt County, at all times mentioned herein, employed, was responsible for the establishment of policies either formally or by custom for, and was responsible for the employment, training, supervision and conduct of the officers and employees of the Bullitt County Jail.
- 10. The Defendant, Danny Fackler, is Jailer of Bullitt County, and as such, established policies formally or by custom for, and was responsible for the employment, training, supervision and conduct of, the officers and employees of the Bullitt County Jail.

V. Nature of Defendants' Conduct

11. Defendants, individually and in conspiracy with one another, engaged in the conduct described below under color of the law of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and Bullitt County. The offenses described below resulted from the failure of the state and county agencies and individuals to employ qualified persons for positions of authority, and/or to properly or conscientiously train and supervise the conduct of such persons after their employment, and/or to promulgate appropriate operating policies and procedures either formally or by custom to protect the constitutional rights of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Defendants' conduct was intentional or grossly negligent, or indicated active malice toward Plaintiffs and the class or at least a total and reckless disregard for and indifference to their constitutional and common law rights, justifying an award of punitive damages in addition to the actual damages which Plaintiffs and the class are entitled to recover.

VI. Facts

- 12. The Plaintiff, Kimberly Miracle, was arrested on March 3, 2004 and charged with violations of various motor vehicle statues, including failure to wear a seatbelt, improper registration plates, no insurance, giving a false name to police, and driving under the influence of alcohol, all misdemeanor offenses. She was arrested and was taken to the Bullitt County Jail. There, she was taken into a room where she was told to remove her clothes, bend over, and spread apart her buttocks and cough.
- 13. The Plaintiff, Melisa Squires, was arrested March 16, 2004. On arrival of the Bullitt County Jail, she was strip-searched in the same manner as Ms. Miracle. Although Ms. Squires was charged with possession of a controlled substance, this was attributable to back pain medication in Ms. Squires' possession at the time of her arrest, which did not give rise to a reasonable suspicion that she was carrying or concealing weapons or contraband.

VII. The Law and Defendants' Policy

14. In 1979, the United States Supreme Court held that a pretrial detainee has the right not to be searched unless the reasonableness of such a search is established by "balancing...the need for the particular search against the invasion of personal rights that the search entails." Bell v. Wolfish, supra at 559 (emphasis added). On April 18, 1989, the Sixth Circuit issued its opinion in Masters v. Crouch, supra, in which it held:

It was clearly established on October 21, 1986 ... that a person charged with only a traffic violation or nonviolent minor offense may not be subjected to a strip-search unless there are reasonable grounds for believing that the particular person might be carrying or concealing weapons or other contraband.

Id. at 1257. In this case, Plaintiffs were arrested for nonviolent minor offenses. Neither their behavior nor their background gave Defendants any reasonable grounds for believing that they might be carrying or concealing weapons or other contraband. Under such circumstances, Defendants' requirement that Plaintiffs expose the most private parts of their physical person for a visual inspection was unconscionable, was an illegal strip-search by any definition and was a flagrant violation of the balancing requirement of Bell v. Wolfish, supra.

VIII. Causes of Action

A. Count I

- 15. Paragraphs 1-14 above are incorporated herein by reference and made thisParagraph 15.
- 16. Plaintiffs' searches, described above, was part of a continuing pattern of misconduct and is the result of statutes, ordinances, regulations, policies, procedures, customs and practices of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and Bullitt County, either written or unwritten, that are systematically applied whenever an arrestee is admitted to or released from the Bullitt County Jail. Such practices constitute an arbitrary use of government power, and evince a total, intentional and unreasonable disregard for the constitutional and common law rights of the citizens of Kentucky, including Plaintiffs and the members of the class, and the wholesale violations of those rights likely to result from the systematic pursuit of such practices.

- 17. As a result of the foregoing, Plaintiffs and their class, through Defendants' intentional or grossly negligent conduct, were deprived without due process of law of the following rights and immunities guaranteed them by the Constitution of the United States in violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. § 1983:
  - a. Their right to be secure in their person against unreasonable searches and seizures under the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments:
  - b. Their right to privacy in their person against unreasonable intrusions under the Fourth, Fifth, Ninth and Fourteenth Amendments;
  - c. Their right to the equal protection of the law secured by the Fourteenth Amendment; and
  - d. Their right not to be subjected to cruel and unusual punishment under the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments.
- 18. Moreover, given the pre-existing law that clearly prohibited Defendants' conduct, Defendants' searches of Plaintiffs and the members of their class were intentional, wanton and malicious, and were indicative of Defendants' total and reckless disregard of, indifference to the rights of, and rise of harm to, Plaintiffs and the other members of the class.

B. Count II

- 19. Paragraphs 1-18 above are incorporated herein by reference and made thisParagraph 19.
- 20. By virtue of the foregoing, Defendants, without justification, negligently or intentionally inflicted upon Plaintiffs and the class severe mental and emotional distress.

C. Count III

- 21. Paragraphs 1-20 above are incorporated herein by reference and made this Paragraph 21.
- 22. By virtue of the foregoing, Defendants were negligent, and grossly negligent, all to the damage of the Plaintiffs and the class.

IX. Damages

- 23. Paragraphs 1-22 above are incorporated herein by reference and made this Paragraph 23.
- 24. Plaintiffs and the members of the class were unjustifiably and unconstitutionally searched in a manner that generated tremendous and overwhelming embarrassment, humiliation, and mental and emotional distress. As a result, they have suffered, and are entitled to recover, actual damages. Furthermore, Defendants' violations of the constitutional and common law rights of the Plaintiffs and the class were cruel, malicious and evinced a total and reckless disregard for and indifference to those rights, entitling Plaintiffs and the class to recover punitive damages from Defendants in order to deter such conduct in the future.

X. Declaratory Judgment and Permanent Injunction

- 25. Paragraphs 1-24 above are incorporated herein by reference and made this Paragraph 25.
- 26. In addition to the foregoing, Plaintiffs and the class request that this Court issue a declaratory judgment deeming unconstitutional any and all statutes, ordinances, regulations, policies, procedures, customs or practices under which they were forced to expose their genitalia for visual inspection, and further request that this Court permanently enjoin the Defendants from following or enforcing such statutes, ordinances, regulations, policies, procedures, customs or usages.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs and the class they represent request (a) that this action proceed as a class action under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 and (b) a trial by jury, and further request that they and all members of the class (c) be awarded actual and punitive damages, (d) be granted the declaratory and injunctive relief requested herein, and (e) be awarded their costs, attorney fees, pre- and post-judgment interest and all other relief to which they are entitled under law or in equity.

Respectfully submitted.
