04/26/2016	79	ORDER: Granting 78 Motion for Extension of Time to File with a sine die filing due date. To hopefully resolve this matter, which is the result of two appellate rulings within the past year, and, hence, culminate all proceedings, First Circuit Settlement Counsel Judge Charles Cordero has agreed to hold a settlement conference with the parties. The undersigned strongly urges the parties to reach an agreement, accordingly. In doing so, Plaintiffs should consider Puerto Rico's present fiscal debacle vis a vis the constitutional rights they now have secured in a federal judgment, and which at one point during the litigation were conceded by the Commonwealth. This is priceless. More so, the Court hopes that counsel who partake in paving the civil rights landscape in Puerto Rico and the rest of the United States, while entitled to reasonable compensation, also advocate for the rights of their clients to the greatest extent possible for the principle and not for the bucks. At the same time, the Commonwealth should recognize that prevailing civil rights litigants are entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees. More so, the Court always encourages the parties to be as creative as possible in reaching any ultimate settlement. Signed by Judge Gustavo A. Gelpi on 4/26/2016. (COL) (Entered: 04/26/2016)
