06/06/2020	21	ORDER granting in part and denying in part 17 Motion to Amend/Correct/Modify. Having reviewed the motion and response, the Court grants the motion to the extent that it requests that officers who may authorize otherwise prohibited force to respond to violence or property destruction that they personally observe are those at the level of lieutenant and above. The Court denies the motion to the extent it requests modification of the body camera language. However, as a matter of common sense, the Court is not requiring that body cameras be activated and draining batteries when nothing is happening in the officer's vicinity. The cameras should be activated and filming any and all acts of confrontation between police officers and others, and if that means increasing the supply of batteries, so be it. by Judge R. 06/17/2020	29	ORDER denying 25 Emergency MOTION for Temporary Restraining Order Extension. The Court will not consider further relief until counsel certify that they have conferred, in person or by telephone, and that they have attempted in good faith to reach a stipulated order that reasonably assures that peaceful protesters in the future will be protected against inappropriate police response and that reasonably assures that police officers will be able to take reasonable actions to protect themselves, the public, and property. Further, the Court will not entertain any "emergency" motion that is based on speculation as opposed to hard evidence of misconduct. The parties, if they set aside the extremes on both sides, should be able to reach an agreement that accomplishes mutually desired goals. If the parties, despite their respective statements that they have similar goals, cannot reach an agreement, then they may submit their respective proposed orders, and the Court will likely enter the order or a version of it that is the most reasonable. By Judge R. Brooke Jackson on 6/17/2020. Text Only Entry(rbjsec. ) (Entered: 06/17/2020)
