Defendants.

Civil No. 4:11-cv-00628-RH-WCS

MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

Plaintiffs move pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 65 for a preliminary injunction enjoining Defendants from enforcing the provisions of Fla. Stat. §§ 97.021(37) and 97.0575 regulating the voter registration activities of “third-party voter registration organizations,” and Fla. Admin. Code Ann. R. 1S-2.042 and any other rules promulgated by the State of Florida implementing these provisions (collectively, the “Law”).

In order to resolve this motion as expeditiously as possible, and sufficiently in advance of Florida’s voter registration “book-closing” deadlines—July 16, 2012 for the primary election, and October 8, 2012 for the general election—after which no one may register to vote in the upcoming 2012 elections, Plaintiffs further request that the Court set a hearing on their preliminary injunction motion for March 1, 2012, or as soon thereafter as the Court is available to hold such a hearing.

As detailed in the Memorandum of Law and the affidavits accompanying this motion, the Law (i) severely burdens and chills Plaintiffs' free speech and association rights, in violation of the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution; (ii) is also void under the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment because its terms risk arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement and fail to adequately warn Plaintiffs of the conduct they prohibit or the liability that they impose on violators; and (iii) conflicts with the text, structure, and central purpose of the National Voter Registration Act of 1993, 42 U.S.C. § 1973gg et seq. (the "NVRA"), and thus violates and is preempted by the NVRA.¹

The Law's pre-registration and disclosure requirements, extensive mandatory and ongoing tracking and electronic reporting obligations, strict 48-hour return deadline for completed registration forms, and vague but ominous penalties for even the slightest unintentional act of noncompliance have rendered third-party voter registration in Florida a complex and risky activity. Accordingly, the Law has all but compelled two of the Plaintiffs (League of Women Voters of Florida and Rock the Vote) to make the difficult decision to cease voter registration assistance in Florida, an activity essential to their organizational missions and inherently intertwined with conversations regarding the importance of civic engagement. And while the remaining Plaintiff (Florida Public Interest Research Group Education Fund) currently intends to engage in voter registration activities during the 2012 election cycle, it, too, has been severely burdened by the Law and will necessarily spend less money, time, and resources on voter registration and more on compliance with the onerous requirements of Florida's new Law. Simply put, every day that the Law continues to be enforced, Plaintiffs' constitutional and statutory rights will be chilled, and countless Floridians that Plaintiffs would have assisted but for the Law will be unable to vote.

A preliminary injunction under Fed. R. Civ. P. 65 is appropriate here because, as demonstrated in the accompanying Memorandum of Law, (i) Plaintiffs have a substantial likelihood of success on the merits of their claims; (ii) Plaintiffs will suffer irreparable injury under the Constitution and the NVRA unless the injunction issues; (iii) the threatened injury to Plaintiffs outweighs whatever damage the proposed injunction may cause Defendants; and (iv) if issued, the injunction would not be adverse to the public interest. See Forsyth Cnty. v. U.S. Army Corps of Eng'rs, 633 F.3d 1032, 1039 (11th Cir. 2011).

The complete grounds and legal authority in support of this motion are addressed in the accompanying Memorandum of Law and affidavits. A proposed order granting Plaintiffs' motion is attached hereto.

WHEREFORE, and for all the reasons detailed in the accompanying Memorandum of Law, Plaintiffs seek an order preliminarily enjoining Defendants and their successors in office, as well as their employees, agents, and representatives, from enforcing the Law.

In order to resolve this motion as expeditiously as possible, Plaintiffs further request that the Court set a hearing on their preliminary injunction motion for March 1, 2012, or as soon thereafter as the Court is available to hold such a hearing.

N.D. FLA. LOC. R. 7.1 CERTIFICATION

Pursuant to N.D. Fla. Loc. R. 7.1(B), undersigned counsel states that Plaintiffs' counsel has conferred with Defendants' counsel in a good faith effort to resolve by agreement the issues raised in this Motion for Preliminary Injunction, but have been unable to do so.
